RECESSIONAL

SPEAKER

FRED P. PESTELLO, PH.D.

Dr. Fred P. Pestello became the 33rd president of Saint Louis University in 2014 and will step down from the presidency this June after 11 years. He is the first lay president of Saint Louis University since its founding in 1818, and the University's third-longest-serving president. He is proud to have spent more than 40 years in Catholic higher education.

As president, Pestello oversees one of the nation's leading Jesuit research universities with more than 15,000 students and 4,000 employees, an annual operating budget of more than $600 million and an endowment of $1.9 billion.

Pestello has galvanized the University community around a compelling vision: To be a global Jesuit university that is mission-focused, student- and patient-centered and research-driven — one that is working with the people of St. Louis to reimagine, transform and unify the city.

In partnership with University and community leaders, Pestello has nurtured SLU's longstanding commitment to the Jesuit mission, ensuring that SLU is home to a large and dynamic community of Jesuits, and establishing a Catholic Studies Center and the Center for Research on Global Catholicism. He also has strengthened SLU's commitment to creating a campus where all students, faculty and staff can thrive through investment in the Division of Diversity and Innovative Community Engagement and the development of initiatives inspired by the 2014 Clock Tower Accords.

Pestello has led SLU to become a driving force in the revitalization of Midtown St. Louis. The University joined with SSM Health to create a 353 redevelopment plan and the St. Louis Midtown

As a graduate of a Jesuit university himself, Pestello understands firsthand the promise of an education guided by the Society of Jesus and its rigorous, justice-oriented, educational mission.

He serves on the executive committee of the Association of Jesuit Colleges and Universities and the executive committee of the Atlantic 10 Conference. He is also a member of the Global Advisory Board of Jesuit Worldwide Learning. In St. Louis, he serves on the executive committee of the Chair's Council of Greater St. Louis Inc., as well as the boards of the Cortex Innovation Community and Arch to Park.

Pestello joined SLU after serving six years as president of Le Moyne College, where he achieved record-breaking levels of enrollment, fundraising, endowment and campus construction. Prior to that appointment, Pestello was a faculty member, department chair, associate dean, and provost and senior vice president for educational affairs during his 25-year career at the University of Dayton.

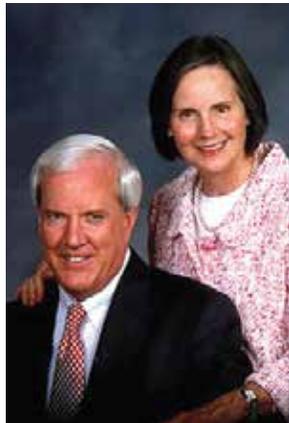

Pestello earned his bachelor's degree at John Carroll University in Cleveland, from which he was awarded an Alumni Medal in 2018. He completed his graduate work in sociology at the University of Akron.

He has been married for 43 years to Dr. Fran Pestello, who is also an accomplished academic and a beloved member of the SLU and St. Louis communities. Fred and Fran have two adult children and one grandchild.

Redevelopment Corporation (STLMRC). The STLMRC has catalyzed several completed development projects, including the City Foundry, a new Fresh Thyme Market grocery store, the Steelcote Lofts, the Element Hotel by Westin, Topgolf, a Target store and more. In addition, SSM Health is building a new Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital at Chouteau Avenue and Grand Boulevard.

Belief in the University vision has taken root among benefactors as well, inspiring historic levels of giving. In 2022, Pestello led SLU's Accelerating Excellence Campaign to its successful conclusion. The largest fundraising effort in University history, the campaign set multiple SLU records for gift totals and far exceeded its $500 million goal, ultimately raising more than $600 million.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

PATRICK AND PEGGY SLY

DOCTOR OF PUBLIC SERVICE, CONFERRED ON MAY 17, 2025

During their more than 50 years together, Patrick and Peggy Sly have shown a commitment to their community.

Patrick Sly had a long and successful career in business. For 36 years, he worked for the St. Louis-based Emerson, starting as national sales manager for power tools and subsequently holding several positions of increasing responsibility. He retired from Emerson as executive vice president in 2016.

The Slys are deeply involved in the St. Louis community. The couple, who have two children and eight grandchildren, served on a number of area boards.

Peggy Sly, a former educator, has a long history of supporting charitable organizations. She was a board member at the Magic House, on her parish council and a tutor in the St. Louis Public School District. Peggy also chaired the Evening of Hope for Boys Hope Girls Hope St. Louis twice.

Patrick Sly served as the former chair and vice chair of the international board of directors for Boys Hope Girls Hope and Nine Network of Public Media. He also served on the board of Cardinal Ritter College Prep, the Ferguson Commission, the Today and Tomorrow Educational Foundation, KIPP Charter schools, the Missouri Historical Society, St. John Vianney High School, the Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis and Better Together.

Together, the Slys serve on the board of directors for One Classroom, which was founded by parents of special needs children to help the St. Louis Archdiocese and parents provide inclusive education at parish schools.

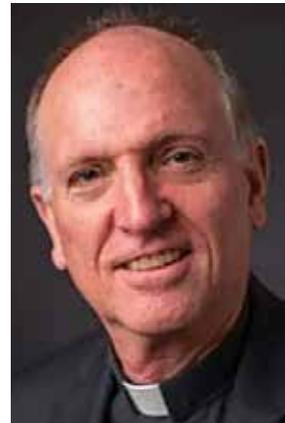

The Slys also serve Saint Louis University. Patrick Sly, who earned his master's in business administration from SLU in 1977, was on the University's board of trustees for several years, including a stint as vice chair of the board.

He was instrumental in the launch of the Emerson Leadership Institute within the Richard A. Chaifetz School of Business. The Slys' commitment to the business school also includes the Patrick and Peggy Sly MBA Scholarship, which supports students in the one-year MBA program who demonstrate a devotion to service.

The Slys' generosity extends to athletics as well. They were among the donors who made the state-of-the-art O'Loughlin Family Champions Center a reality.

For their lifelong dedication to Saint Louis University and their commitment to their communities, the degree of Doctor of Public Service, honoris causa, will be conferred upon Patrick and Peggy Sly.

Allen, a professor, special assistant to the dean of libraries and museums, and director of academic integrity, received her bachelor's degree from Pennsylvania State University in 1977 and her Master of Arts in Library and Information Science from the University of Missouri in 1991.

She first joined SLU in 1995 as a part-time reference librarian in Pius XII Memorial Library, and has served the University in a wide variety of roles since that time, including a subject librarian, assistant dean of user services and interim director of Pius Library. In July 2023, Allen was appointed the inaugural director of academic integrity, a half-time position in the Provost's Office. She has been a finalist for the Ignite Instructor of the Year Award twice, in 2023 and 2024.

A published author and presenter, Allen's research interests include effective library instruction and connecting physical spaces with patron needs.

THE SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY MACE

The Saint Louis University mace represents the Catholic, Jesuit and urban influences that distinguish the University. Commissioned in 1987, the SLU mace is an outward sign of the president's authority and is seen at all University formal academic occasions.

Handcrafted in bronze by a St. Louis artisan, the mace is 30 inches long, topped by a Christian cross that is supported by the SLU seal. Beneath these elements are two wolves at a cauldron, a symbol from the coat of arms of the House of Loyola, from which descended St. Ignatius Loyola, founder of the Society of Jesus.

The entire crown of the mace rests upon three fleurs-de-lis taken from the royal standard of King Louis IX of France, after whom both the University and the City of St. Louis are named. The names of every SLU president are inscribed on the handle.

The origins of the mace as a symbol trace back to medieval times, when churchmen would carry clublike staffs into battle because the use of swords was forbidden under biblical injunction. Today, maces are seen most often at university ceremonies and as part of the pageantry of European governmental functions.

THE MARSHALS OF SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY HAVE A CENTRAL ROLE IN THE UNIVERSITY'S MOST SIGNIFICANT ACADEMIC OCCASIONS. THE POST OF MARSHAL IS ONE OF HONOR, WITH MARSHALS APPOINTED BY THEIR COLLEGE OR SCHOOL TO SERVE AS CEREMONIAL LEADERS. MARSHALS WEAR DISTINCTIVE MEDALLIONS INDICATIVE OF THEIR ROLE.

ACADEMIC ATTIRE

The colorful attire worn by graduates, faculty, trustees and officers of the University has historic roots in the distant medieval past. Dressed in cap and gown, the graduates and their professors are part of a long tradition that dates back to Paris and Bologna, Italy, to Oxford and Cambridge, England, in the days of their Catholic glory.

The exact origins of several parts of the academic garb are a bit of a mystery. Because medieval students enjoyed the status of cleric during their university years, one might guess that their attire found its inspiration in the clerical dress of medieval times. The gown seems to be an adaptation of the robe of friar or priest; the hood, of the monk's or friar's cowl; and the mortarboard cap of today recalls the skullcap of days when tonsured heads needed protection against the drafts of medieval classrooms.

Academic attire began to appear on U.S. campuses in the late 1890s. Since that time, its use has become universal for solemn university functions, and its pattern is highly uniform.

THE GOWNS

The gowns are three in number and styling. That of the bachelor is a yoked, closed-front garment with long pointed sleeves; that of the master has sleeves long and closed but slit just above the elbow to allow the forearms to protrude; the gown of the doctor has full, bell-shaped sleeves. Only the doctor's gown is trimmed — with velvet panels down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve.

THE HOOD

The hood at first seems to have been worn over the head and attached to the gown. When the skullcap was introduced, the hood was retained but detached as a separate piece and worn much as it is today.

Each degree (bachelor's, master's, doctoral) has its special hood, which varies in length and, for the doctor, also in pattern. The color or colors lining the hood are those of the college or university that granted the wearer's degree. For example, Saint Louis University is known by blue chevron on a field of white. The colored velvet binding or edging of the hood, in different widths for bachelor, master and doctor, is determined by the field of study.

THE CAP

The cap, or mortarboard, has become the universally accepted style for U.S. colleges and universities. Many European institutions still retain distinctive forms of academic headdress.

THE TASSEL

The tassel is perhaps the most iconic souvenir of academic attire. The doctoral graduate can wear a gold or black tassel on the mortarboard. However, varying the color of the tassel based on the field of study has gained acceptance throughout academia.

Valiant and strong
Noble old Varsity
Hark to our song;

Proudly our colors fly
Brave White and Blue,
Loud let the chorus swell,
Saint Louis U!

Composed by Alfred G. Robyn (1860-1935)
Arranged for choir by Aaron Johnson, D.M.A.
Original lyrics by Paul L. Blakely, S.J. (1880-1943)
Lyrics adapted by Aaron Johnson, D.M.A.

As part of Saint Louis University's bicentennial celebration in 2018, SLU reintroduced the "Varsity Song," which served as the University's alma mater. Previously it was last performed in the 1960s. Aaron Johnson, D.M.A., associate professor of music, adapted the lyrics and arranged the music for four-part choral performance.

Alfred G. Robyn (1860-1935), composer, organist and pianist, composed the music for the "Varsity Song" in 1909, the year he received an honorary degree from SLU. He was a prolific composer, credited with having written approximately 300 works, some of which were subsequently used in motion pictures. Robyn's connection to SLU traces back to his father, a German immigrant, who was also a composer and musician and taught for several years at SLU.

The original lyrics were written by Paul L. Blakely, S.J. (1880-1943). Blakely entered the Society of Jesus in 1897. He completed his studies at SLU and was ordained in 1912. He was a professor of literature at SLU from 1906 to 1909 and later became the associate editor of America magazine.

THE MISSION OF SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY IS THE PURSUIT OF TRUTH FOR THE GREATER GLORY OF GOD AND FOR THE SERVICE OF HUMANITY.

The University seeks excellence in the fulfillment of its corporate purposes of teaching, research, health care and service to the community. It is dedicated to leadership in the continuing quest for understanding of God's creation and for the discovery, dissemination and integration of the values, knowledge and skills required to transform society in the spirit of the Gospels. As a Catholic, Jesuit university, this pursuit is motivated by the inspiration and values of the Judeo-Christian tradition and is guided by the spiritual and intellectual ideals of the Society of Jesus.
